

OREGON'S MT. HOOD TERRITORY

2020 TRAVEL PLANNER

One of the best things about a vacation is getting away from it all. Still, getting away can also be difficult and time consuming, since it's generally thought to require traveling long distances. But then there's Oregon's Mt. Hood Territory, located conveniently close to Portland and its award winning airport, yet far enough away that it feels like a whole other world.

From the top of 11,245-foot Mt. Hood, known for its year-round recreational opportunities, down to the Willamette Valley, famous for producing highly acclaimed wines and delicious bounty, this place is as diverse as the people who visit it. Outdoor adventure seekers are drawn to snow sports in the winter and to mountain biking and river running in the spring and summer. Foodies come for our dinners in the field and fresh produce. Culture lovers explore our cities for their thriving arts scene, while history buffs visit the official end of the Oregon Trail.

Browse through this guide and you'll see that getting away doesn't require distant travels after all. Start planning your next vacation today!

OUTDOOR RECREATION

MILO McIVER STATE PARK

Just outside of Estacada lies Milo McIver State Park, which offers a plethora of ways to connect with nature. Within this sprawling and vast park, you can spend days exploring the Clackamas River, hiking trails through the forest and playing games in the fields. Discover the river on a raft, stand-up paddleboard or kayak, with easy access to the water from Estacada Lake's boat ramp. You can even meet the underwater residents on a self-guided tour of the Clackamas Fish Hatchery.

Visitors can take in incredible views of Mt. Hood while hiking or riding horses on the park's 14 miles of trails. And during the summer months, park rangers lead interpretive programs featuring everything from guided hikes to nature crafts, perfect for families.

The 4-acre, unfenced dog park is the perfect spot to bring Fido to run and frolic. Or spend the day relaxing and playing at the year-round, 27-hole disc golf course. Don't have discs? No worries! You can rent or purchase them in the park office.

Night is a special time in Milo McIver, too, making this park a perfect camping spot. Visit with family and friends around the campfire or walk the Bat Trail at dusk — which features five bat houses — and watch six resident bat species fly across the evening sky.

MOUNTAIN BIKING

The slopes of Mt. Hood feature some of the best mountain biking opportunities in Oregon. In 2019, Timberline opened its lift-assisted Bike Park. With the unveiling of its first seven trails in Phase 1, visitors savored a small taste of what the park will offer in the years ahead as new trails and terrain are added, keeping the good times rolling.

Down the road is Mt. Hood Skibowl, which also offers lift-assisted trails. Witness incredible views from their Scenic Sky Chairs as you and your bike are transported to the summit. From a wide-track scenic loop for beginners to fast, single-track downhill routes for the more experienced, this park is built for everyone.

Created by the International Mountain Biking Association and the Bureau of Land Management, Sandy Ridge Trail System's 17 miles of trails feature everything riders are looking for, from beginner rollers to double black diamonds.

Didn't bring your bike? No worries! Several shops in the area rent mountain bikes, helmets and other gear, as well as offer repairs. And with too many trails to ride in a single day, relax in a vacation rental, historic lodge or mountain resort before exploring more terrain.

TRAILS

Over 1,000 miles of hiking trails wind their way through Mt. Hood Territory, making this the perfect place to get close to nature, whether you are an avid hiker or just looking for a peaceful stroll. Our Trails Guide provides maps and information highlighting 12 of our favorite lesser-known trails for all levels of adventurer, so you can take the path less traveled and truly immerse yourself in the sights and sounds around you.

For an easier hike, visit Wildwood Recreation Site on Mt. Hood. Shady forested trails provide views of the Wild and Scenic Salmon River, including the accessible Cascade Streamwatch Trail that takes you below stream level to an underwater fish viewing window.

Pup Creek Falls is a moderate hike that leads to a 100-foot-tall tiered waterfall cascading down a rocky precipice blanketed with lush green moss. This out-and-back trail follows the Clackamas River, where you can watch kayakers floating below you as you climb toward the falls.

Explore more of our trails to discover breathtaking mountain views, fields of seasonal wildflowers, clear lakes and riverside picnic spots. To download the full Trails Guide with maps, visit omht.us/hiking-guide

LAKES

Mt. Hood Territory is a land filled with lakes.

Perhaps the most well-known is Trillium Lake, where still waters reflect Mt. Hood in perfect clarity for amazing sunrises. Kayakers, non-motorized boaters and swimmers answer the call of the cool water, and anglers especially enjoy that it's regularly stocked with various trout.

If you prefer to just look at water, then visit Little Crater Lake. This spring-fed stunner is so clear, you can see all 45 feet to the bottom, as if you were looking through a window. To preserve the natural clarity of the lake, there is no swimming or other water recreation allowed at this tranquil spot.

Estacada is a hub for aquatic adventures. Head over to North Fork Reservoir and rent a pontoon boat or bring your own watercraft for an action-packed day. Also nearby is Estacada Lake, a perfect spot for a leisurely and scenic paddle on a kayak or stand-up paddleboard, especially during the fall when you can spot leaves turning colors.

If you're in the mood for water that's a bit less wild, explore Oswego Lake's urban lakefront. Its shores are lined with great restaurants, breweries and shopping, as well as public art installations.

There are many more lakes to choose from; you'll just have to stay longer to experience them all.

LOCAL FAVES

PONTOON BOATS AT PROMONTORY PARK Plan a trip to Promontory Park and Marina in Estacada, offering everything needed for an outdoor adventure. Pontoon boat rentals are a party on the water for the entire family (seats seven adults comfortably, dogs welcome)! Book a camping spot to take advantage of all the fun.

RAINBOW TROUT FARM Starting in March, the Rainbow Trout Farm in Sandy offers family fishing fun from one of its 10 ponds located on 30 picturesque acres. Equipment, bait and tackle are provided, and fishing licenses aren't needed, making it a fun and easy outing.

PAT'S ACRES This is the place if your family and friends live in the fast lane. Race in go-karts going 50 mph around a 1/2-mile, paved course that winds through a parklike setting. Fun fact: Pat's Acres has hosted some of the biggest carting races in North America.

CASCADING RIVERS SCENIC BIKEWAY Soak up the majestic scenery along the Cascading Rivers Scenic Bikeway, a 71-mile, low traffic (but challenging) route that parallels the Wild and Scenic Clackamas River. For a family friendly option, begin in Estacada, where there is an easy 12-mile portion of the bikeway that mostly runs along a gated road that's free of motor vehicles.

eNRG KAYAKING TO WILLAMETTE FALLS

From novice to expert, eNRG Kayaking offers guided tours of the Willamette and Clackamas rivers and rental equipment. Book a tour of historic Willamette Falls, the second largest waterfall by volume in the country.

SNOW PLAY

MIDWEEK SKI AND BOARD

On Mt. Hood, midweek trips make for lower lift ticket prices, special packages for visitors and more ski and snowboard runs, thanks to fewer crowds.

Timberline Lodge & Ski Area doesn't have to be shy about their stats; with the longest ski season in North America and a winter vertical drop of 3,690 feet — more than any Pacific Northwest resort — there's a lot to talk about. For families of varying abilities, their 41 trails are 25% beginner, 50% intermediate and 25% advanced.

Make sure to also hit Mt. Hood Skibowl's 36 lit runs, the largest night skiing terrain in the country and the closest ski resort to the Portland International Airport. With no crowds on the slopes midweek, experts have more time to tackle the most black diamond runs of any resort in the state, and beginners can practice (and maybe fall a time or two) with fewer witnesses. Pro tip: For newbies, Skibowl even has jackets and pants to rent. And no visit is complete without a trip to their historic Warming Hut.

So go ahead and give yourself a little midweek break this winter.

SNOW ADVENTURES

Once winter arrives, Mt. Hood is transformed into a snow lover's paradise, leading many to ask, "Do you want to build a snowman?"

You don't have to be into skiing or snowboarding to enjoy this season in the mountains. Grab your gloves, boots and jacket so the cold won't bother you, and race down the hills at the Snow Tube and Adventure Park at Mt. Hood Skibowl or at the Summit Ski Area, which also offers tubing. Once night falls, Skibowl hosts the best party on the mountain with the world's first Cosmic Tubing, where families enjoy more than 600,000 LED lights, music and warm drinks.

If you want to experience serenity on the mountain, Mt. Hood Outfitters offers guided snowshoeing and cross-country skiing tours, where you'll learn proper techniques while enjoying beautiful scenery. A number of shops also rent gear if you want to explore on your own.

For the traveler who would rather enjoy the snow from a window, we have the perfect lodging options for families, couples who want a secluded experience or friends who want to relax with mountain views.

LOCAL FAVES

MT. HOOD EXPRESS Ride to the mountain without the hassle of driving in winter weather or parking. This transit service makes seven daily runs December through March for $5 per day or $2 one way. Buses include ski boxes to get your gear there, too.

TIMBERLINE LODGE HOT CHOCOLATE The Ram's Head Bar at Timberline Lodge boasts a gourmet hot chocolate that has garnered praise for both its deliciousness and its photogenic appearance. Soak in the lodge's atmosphere as you enjoy your beverage by a stone hearth fireplace with a view of Mt. Hood.

---

RATSKELLER PIZZERIA & PUB Voted best après ski bar in Oregon, the Ratskeller Pizzeria & Pub is the place to stop for food and fun in Government Camp. Be sure to try their "legendary sized" pizzas and JD's famous cocktail infusions.

---

---

FARMS & WINERIES

WEST LINN

Pete's Mountain in West Linn has become the hot, new wine tasting destination in the Willamette Valley. With five wineries within a few miles of each other and gourmet food, shopping and heritage tours just down the hill in the Willamette neighborhood, it's the perfect getaway spot. After a day of wine tasting, you may not want to leave! Campbell Lane Winery's new, cozy two-bedroom cottage is the perfect place to count wine grapes on your way to slumber. Surrounded by 100 acres of woods and vineyard views and just steps from a glorious tasting room, it's a magical spot to stay.

While out in the country, it seems only fitting to visit some farm animals. Enter Triskelee Farm, only a few miles away. Take a tour with treat-loving baby goats, regal horses, a so-soft alpaca herd and many others. Be sure to find all the sweet signs noting the sanctuary areas, including "Chick Inn," "Peacock Penthouse," "Ostrich Oasis" and "Swine Suite." Tip: Learn more in the What's New section on page 35.

Round out the day on Historic Willamette Main Street with an extravagant presentation of fire-warmed Spanish coffee at Willamette Ale & Cider House, followed by a delicious dinner at Nineteen 33 Taproom across the street. The garlic parmesan fries are addictive, and the drink menu is extensive, featuring many local options, including your new favorite wines from Pete's Mountain, where your day began.

SPRING May flowers? More like 40 acres bursting with vibrant tulips in early April at Wooden Shoe Tulip Farm. May does bring out our farmers markets, where local chefs shop for fresh produce and handcrafted products. This season is also the time to purchase fresh elk meat, similar to chicken nutritionally, from Rosse Posse Acres. Book a tour to see their elk ranch and petting zoo. And get a jump on your spring plantings with expert tips from the Master Gardeners Spring Garden Fair.

SUMMER Warmer months signal the season of lavender and u-pick blueberries across dozens of farms throughout our destination. Breathe in over 100 varieties of lavender at Barn Owl Nursery and pick 11 types of blueberries at Morning Shade Farm. Don't forget to celebrate summer at the Molalla Buckaroo with fireworks and rodeo performances.

FALL When the trees begin turning vibrant hues of red and yellow, Mt. Hood Territory farms light up orange with pumpkin patches, which they open to the public with plenty of family activities and events. Clip your own pumpkin straight from the vine at Fiala Farms or meet plenty of farm animals at Historic Kirchem Farm and Bushue's Family Farm. Take a Pumpkin Run miniature train ride at Flower Farmer or jump aboard a caterpillar barrel train at Olson Farms in Damascus.

WINTER Start a new family holiday tradition and visit one of our many u-cut Christmas tree farms producing Douglas, Nordmann, grand and noble firs. Many offer hot chocolate, cider or cookies to keep your whole group feeling warm. At Frog Pond Farm, meet their camel, Dude, and enjoy a holiday film in their movie room. Or obtain a US Forest Service permit to cut your own tree in Mt. Hood National Forest.

LOCAL FAVES

WENZEL FARM FANTASY TRAIL Spreading the magic of Halloween and Christmas for nearly 30 years with its holiday Fantasy Trail, Wenzel Farm aims to delight kiddos with spooky sights or endless twinkle lights. It's a hoot of a good time!

---

SWAN ISLAND DAHLIAS Voted #4 on the top 100 list of best destinations in Oregon, the Swan Island Dahlia Festival in Canby is a must-attend summertime event. Showcasing the largest display of dahlias by a single grower in the US, it's a sight to behold. Their fields are also open for strolling in August and September.

---

FIR POINT FARMS You'll find more than fall pumpkin festivities (which are awesome!) at Fir Point Farms near Canby. Their Country Grains Store serves up baked goods, including apple cider doughnuts that melt in your mouth. Bonus: Friendly farm animals bring smiles to visitors of all ages.

---

TAP & WINE TRAILS

TAP TRAIL

Discover our breweries, cideries and distilleries with the Tap Trail, a free mobile passport offering tasting discounts. Beer is part of the area's history, and Coin Toss Brewing in Oregon City takes that to heart with their heritage beer series brewed using historical recipes. Cidermakers at Portland Cider Co. focus on regional ingredients, using local fruits and berries and even apples sourced from the backyard apple trees of community members. Distilleries find new ways to raise your spirits, including Trail Distilling, where they make spirits with naturally harvested grains from their own farm and clear Cascadian glacial water. And we have more where that came from! There are 17 participating locations on the Tap Trail. Visit 10 to earn a free stainless steel pint glass for your next ale-venture. To sign up, scan or visit omht.us/taptrail

WINE TRAIL

Mt. Hood Territory is located at the northern tip of the famed Willamette Valley wine region, and our wineries produce award winning wines, from classic pinot noir to sparkling chardonnay. You'll often find that the person pouring your wine is the owner or winemaker, so it's a great chance to learn more, whether you're an experienced oenophile or are just starting to explore the world of wine. The free Wine Trail mobile passport provides discounts at 16 participating wineries, as well as detailed tasting itineraries for trip planning. Use the passport at eight wineries to earn a stainless steel wine tumbler. To sign up, scan or visit omht.us/winetrail

FOODIE SCENE

Farms, restaurants and beverage purveyors across Mt. Hood Territory partner with each other to introduce their patrons to new food experiences.

At Kyra's Bake Shop in Lake Oswego, owner Kyra Bussanich loves incorporating and promoting local ingredients in her gluten free, celiac safe cupcakes. And as a four-time winner on the Food Network show "Cupcake Wars," she's proven that her recipes are delicious, too. "In fact," said Kyra, "on all of our 'Cupcake Wars' episodes, we used Bob's Red Mill alternative flours to surprise and impress the judges!" Tip: Check out @bobsredmill on Pinterest for tons of gluten free recipes. Plus, visit their mill in Milwaukie by going on a free public tour.

Field & Vine Events plans monthly dinners on Mt. Hood Territory farms, typically from May through December. Before dinner, guests tour and learn about the properties, from historic barns and flower farms to alpaca and elk ranches. The company teams up with local food purveyors, winemakers, brewmasters and distillers to ensure that every meal is made with the freshest ingredients and washed down with the best beverages. The family members running TMK Creamery in Canby, a Field & Vine partner, have quickly made a name for themselves with their single-cow cheese and, more recently, a vodka made from spent whey. Their "Cowlebrities" love meeting visitors during creamery open hours.

ROASTED BEET SALAD WITH FETA AND DILL

Sitting on 58 acres in Sherwood's picturesque countryside, Our Table Cooperative is a working farm and grocery store that is Certified Organic under the USDA's National Organic Program. When you turn down the gravel road leading to their store, you are immediately welcomed into a local food community offering products you can feel proud to bring into your home. Their on-farm chef lovingly handcrafts ready-made meals with the freshest ingredients from their land or regional co-op members, just like this colorful beet salad we're featuring. Whether you attend one of their ongoing events — from Friday Happy Hours to brunches and dinners in their field — or stop in during regular open hours for a unique shopping experience, you'll leave feeling nourished from the inside out. ourtable.us

Serves 6

3 lb beets

1/4 cup feta cheese, coarsely
grated or crumbled

1/4 cup extra virgin olive oil

1 tbsp apple cider vinegar or white wine vinegar

1 sprig of dill, finely chopped

Salt and pepper to taste

1. Heat oven to 350 degrees.
2. Wash beets and remove tops.
3. Place beets in a deep ovenproof dish, add 1 inch of water and roast, covered for 3-4 hours until tender.
4. Let beets cool until they are warm to the touch and then remove the skin. This may be a messy process and is best done by using a small towel or clean wash rag to rub away the skin. Discard the cooking liquid (or use it as a vegetable dye!).
5. Chop cooked beets into 1-inch pieces.
6. Toss the beets with olive oil and vinegar and season with salt and pepper to taste.
7. Top with feta and dill and serve cold or at room temperature.

LOCAL FAVES

NOLA DOUGHNUTS The three-day process it takes to make the dough for NOLA Doughnuts in Lake Oswego is worth the wait. Whether you try a fritter, beignet, doughnut or handful of dough bites, they will tantalize your taste buds, making it impossible to settle for a regular doughnut again.

THE KITCHEN AT MIDDLEGROUND FARMS Sign up for a class on a working farm where the custom barn-house kitchen inspires everyone to channel their inner chef. Best of all, you get to devour the creations you helped make during class, with the sweetest jersey cows, a llama and goats frolicking in the field outside.

FECKIN BREWING AND SMOKEHOUSE An Irish-style brewery with Pacific Northwest flair is actually the least unique thing about Feckin Brewing in Oregon City. Their delicious smoked turkey leg is a staple, and they often host live music. But the most exciting part? The axe throwing lanes!

ST. JOSEF'S WINERY This family run winery in Canby has been pioneering wine for over 40 years, and it shows. As they say, they make "serious wines for the not so serious." Don't miss their annual Grapestomping Festival, where connoisseurs can immerse themselves (or at least their feet) in the winemaking process.

FAT CUPCAKE With two locations in Mt. Hood Territory, Fat Cupcake offers easy access to some of the yummiest and most decadent treats imaginable. The eclectic vibe, energetic owner and savory and sweet flavors are just some of the reasons they continue to flourish.

ARTS & HERITAGE

ART FESTIVALS

In the summertime, Mt. Hood Territory art festivals transform our art centers, main streets and even forested riverside parks into restorative places of inspiration and whimsy.

The Lake Oswego Festival of the Arts is one of the largest in the Pacific Northwest, and for well over 50 years has attracted 22,000 to 25,000 visitors over the weekend following Father's Day. Each year this festival features a different special exhibit, spotlighting subjects ranging from the power of flavors and food to comics and humor as expression.

For large-scale mural enthusiasts, the annual Estacada Summer Celebration takes place over the fourth weekend in July. What began in 2000 as a small celebration of the Artback Artist Cooperative's "mural in a weekend" project is now a full-scale art and music event that continues to grow in popularity. Each year Artback creates a new mural or restores an old one, the highlight of the festival.

Illuminated by the night sky, A-WOL's annual Art in the Dark aerial arts performance is a unique evening production set in West Linn's Mary S. Young Park, where the forest is the stage and trees make up the sets. Over multiple July and August weekends, you can expect an ethereal mix of acrobatics, gymnastics and contemporary dance and circus arts.

HERITAGE TRAIL

Here at the official end of the Oregon Trail, history can be found everywhere around you; you just have to know where to look. Fortunately, we've developed the Mt. Hood Territory Heritage Trail and accompanying app to help you discover historic sites that suit your interests. For avid cyclists, there's even a bike route option.

Discover area history at the Sandy Historical Society Museum, with displays covering topics from the Barlow Road to the early logging industry. Bring a camera to Jonsrud Viewpoint — known for its epic overlook of Mt. Hood and the Sandy River — to capture a bird's-eye view of the Oregon Trail route. Follow the trail to Philip Foster Farm, where many of the buildings harken back to the 1800s, complete with living history demonstrations. Or make your way south to Molalla and visit the Dibble House, one of the best preserved and furnished historic homes in the region.

The app doesn't just show how to get to these important locations; it shares the story behind them as you stand at these historic spots. Learn about a coin toss in Oregon City, which decided the fate of the town that came to be known as Portland, or an important tree in Milwaukie that was the center of numerous ceremonies for Native American Tribes. Once you've got your fill of history, use the "nearby" function to locate restaurants, lodging and other activities to round out your itinerary.

To find the Heritage Trail and its 25+ historic stops, scan or visit omht.us/heritage-trail

LOCAL FAVES

GALLERY WITHOUT WALLS An outdoor sculpture program concentrated in Lake Oswego's city center, Gallery Without Walls features over 70 sculptures from numerous local artists, as well as those with national and even worldwide acclaim. Docent tours offer extra insight into the award winning public art scene, or make your own discoveries via a self-guided tour.

MT. HOOD CULTURAL CENTER & MUSEUM

Immerse yourself in the museum's exhibits spotlighting ski history and the alpine town of Government Camp. The building is located along the ruins of the historic Barlow Road and has a view of iconic Mt. Hood.

WILLAMETTE SHORE TROLLEY Wind through posh neighborhoods along the Willamette River aboard a vintage streetcar. The Willamette Shore Trolley travels between Lake Oswego and Portland on a historic rail line dating back to the late 1800s.

LAKEWOOD THEATRE COMPANY Lakewood Center for the Arts is home to Lakewood Theatre Company, which has been producing shows for over 50 years and continues to offer a full season of plays in their 220-seat theater.

END OF THE OREGON TRAIL INTERPRETIVE CENTER

This museum and visitor center sits on the very spot where Oregon Trail pioneers received land deeds and showcases pioneers' stories through living history interpretations and interactive family activities, helping bring the past to life for kids today.

WHAT'S NEW

NORTH AMERICAN BIGFOOT CENTER Mt. Hood Territory boasts a seemingly endless wilderness, which is probably why the area has the most documented Bigfoot sightings in Oregon. It's "squatchy" in these woods, as some say. Now, a famed researcher is leveraging that with a new museum dedicated to all things Bigfoot.

The North American Bigfoot Center is the brainchild of Cliff Barackman from the hit show "Finding Bigfoot." With all that he's experienced around the world, he decided Boring, OR, was the ideal spot for his museum. Close to Mt. Hood National Forest and on the main route to Mt. Hood, it's an easy place for curious folks to visit.

While you'll see a variety of footprint casts, there are also some unique pieces of evidence, such as a handprint from a jar of Nutella and a very large impression of a Bigfoot butt. Yup. As Cliff says, had that been found before a footprint, the creature may have earned a different moniker.

Bring the kids, pick up some Sasquatch merch, take a picture with "Murphy," the 8-foot-tall Bigfoot statue, and decide for yourself whether or not Bigfoot really lives here.

Top: North American Bigfoot Center

503 DISTILLING Canned cocktails? Yes, please! 503 Distilling's 12 oz cans of Wicked Mule (Moscow mule), The Blood Hound (blood orange greyhound) and La Vida Mocha (cinnamon infused rum, Mexican chocolate, Riff cold brewed coffee) are perfect for outdoor adventures. Now you can also enjoy them, along with seasonal and experimental creations, on tap in 503's new cocktail lounge right next to their distillery in Oregon City. Let staff know about your favorites; crowd pleasers have a chance of becoming a canned regular.

STONE CIRCLE CIDER We're excited to welcome Mt. Hood Territory Tap Trail's first on-farm cidery. Owner Dan Lawrence spent six months in England studying the cider making process, so guests can feel confident they are tasting ciders in the traditional Southwest English style. Enjoy bevies in their tasting room or at the outdoor seating area with a spring-fed pond and fire pit on the 36-acre farm, located just outside of Estacada. Order a flight to try four farmhouse ciders from their menu of dry, semi-dry, sweet, sour cherry, raspberry and a seasonal surprise; make your own custom cider by combining two.

BULLWINKLE'S ENTERTAINMENT After two years of planning, Bullwinkle's Entertainment, formerly Wilsonville Family Fun Center, officially opened their doors with more activities than ever for visitors of all ages. The entire first floor has been renovated, complete with new arcade games (don't miss Virtual Rabbids) and a new supersized Kidopolis Playland for younger children. Those 21+ can visit their new full-service bar, Badenov's, with creative cocktails and over 16 beer taps. And everyone can enjoy the new and cutting-edge bowling alley with 16 lanes.

TRISKELEE FARM This family farm created a ton of new experiences to pair with their animals in 2019. Guests can now feed ostriches, among other fun activities. Keep an eye out for new members, including rare white peacocks and a miniature horse. It's easier than ever to visit, with tours now offered regularly. There's even a Topsy Tour option for the adults; imbibe local wine and beer while down on the farm.

Have you thought about going small for your next big trip? Mt. Hood Tiny House Village in Welches packs all the creature comforts of home in a cute, bite-sized package. With enough sleeping space for a small family, kitchen, living area and a full bathroom, it's everything you need. Plus, guests have access to all of Mt. Hood Village RV Resort's amenities, including a fitness center and indoor pool.

Of course, not everyone wants to go tiny. We have more than 200 vacation rentals perfect for larger groups looking for a comfortable stay, as well as hotels located throughout the region that are perfectly positioned near attractions, dining and activities, so you're never far from the action. Conversely, we have numerous campgrounds, perfect for those looking to get away from it all.

Spotlights:

LODGE: TIMBERLINE LODGE & SKI AREA

Wake up above the tree line at one of America's most legendary hotels and Oregon's only ski-in, ski-out option.

B&B: SANDES OF TIME Relax on a porch swing, lemonade or spiced apple cider in hand, and enjoy the tranquil sound of water trickling down the fountain.

CAMPGROUND: TIMOTHY LAKE This scenic mountain lake actually has seven different camping areas around its shores. Several offer spectacular views of Mt. Hood, which sits just a few miles to the northeast.

RESORT: MT. HOOD OREGON RESORT Treat yourself to a luxury experience close to the action on Mt. Hood, with a 27-hole golf course, a spa and delicious dining options.

HOTEL/MOTEL: LAKESHORE INN Situated along Oswego Lake in the city of Lake Oswego, this hotel is surrounded by scenic parks, world-class shopping and an outdoor sculpture gallery.

Check out all of your lodging options on page 40.

EVENTS, WEDDINGS & MEETING SPACES

Summer is widely known as wedding season, but in Mt. Hood Territory every season is ideal for tying the knot. There are so many epic outdoor locations to choose from. Consider Mt. Hood Skibowl, one of The Knot's Best of Weddings 2019 award recipients, set against the majestic backdrop of Mt. Hood. Langdon Farms Golf Club, also a Best of Weddings winner, delivers built-in flower power and emerald golfing greens. Take it inside for some bucolic chic elegance at Postlewait's Country Weddings or accommodate your large reception in a massive ballroom overlooking the forest at Mt. Hood Oregon Resort.

Hosting a reunion or graduation party or need a place for some team building? Surprise your group in fun and unique ways with gaming at Splat Action Paintball Park or celebrating over an intimate group dinner at Timberline Lodge & Ski Area's Silcox Hut. Whatever you choose, the experience will surely leave a lasting impression.

COMMUNITIES

GLADSTONE

With RC car racing, a bike jump track, a kids' golf course, parks, a boat launch, family events and even a micro-roastery, Gladstone has something for everyone.

MILWAUKIE

Accessible from Portland via the MAX Light Rail Orange Line, Milwaukie boasts a quaint main street filled with fun boutique shops and the Milwaukie Station food cart pod. It hosts the longest-running Sunday farmers market in Oregon and offers a scenic riverfront with various water sports.

HAPPY VALLEY

This is where residents enjoy abundant neighborhoods, a good quality of life, beautiful parks and nature areas, access to the Clackamas River, shopping, an upscale food cart pod and community events, including the Pickathon Music Festival.

OREGON CITY

Home to scenic Willamette Falls, the official end of the Oregon Trail, an outdoor municipal elevator and the McLoughlin Conservation District, Oregon City has a rich history. It's also full of fun, with an award winning main street, craft breweries and local shops, kayak rentals, bike routes, wineries and an Amtrak rail station.

LAKE OSWEGO

A beautiful community steps from the Willamette River, Lake Oswego offers a downtown brimming with arts, boutique shopping, dining and a seasonal European-style farmers market. Enjoy the water and rent kayaks and SUPs at George Rogers Park from Alder Creek.

WEST LINN

Visit this hub of delicious dishes and history with five area wineries, a new cidery in its downtown Historic Willamette District, riverfront Willamette Park with a boat launch and the Meteorite and Ice Age Floods Interpretive Trail.

ESTACADA

Bordering the Clackamas River and at the base of Mt. Hood National Forest, downtown Estacada boasts a series of outdoor murals. The town is a great base camp for watersports, biking the Cascading Rivers Scenic Bikeway, hiking and camping at nearby Milo McIver State Park.

CANBY

Situated in the Willamette Valley between Portland and the state capital of Salem, Canby has earned its nickname, "The Garden Spot." Visit Canby's farm loops, the Swan Island Dahlia Festival and the Clackamas County Fair.

GOVERNMENT CAMP

On the south slope of Mt. Hood, along the historic Barlow Road and the Mt. Hood Scenic Byway, this alpine village features four-season outdoor recreation, Cascadian-style streetscapes and a wide array of lodging and dining options.

MOLALLA

Home to the Molalla Buckaroo, Rodeo Walk of Fame, Rosse Posse Acres elk farm and Skydive Oregon, Molalla is a recreational mecca. Enjoy hiking, horseback riding, rafting, kayaking, fishing and camping along the spectacular Molalla River Recreation Corridor.

SANDY

Near Mt. Hood and the Mt. Hood National Forest, Sandy is an ideal place to stay when accessing the Sandy River, Jonsrud Viewpoint and Sandy Ridge Trail System. Downtown Sandy charms with Cascadian architecture, the Sandy Actors Theatre, a historical museum and shopping and dining, including iconic Joe's Donuts.

WILSONVILLE

Located off I-5 along the Willamette River, Wilsonville boasts kid friendly activities that include World of Speed, Bullwinkle's Entertainment activity center and a vibrant farmers market. With a plethora of hotels, it's a prime choice for overnighting with the family when visiting Mt. Hood Territory.

VILLAGES OF MT. HOOD

Travel east to Mt. Hood and pass through Alder Creek, Brightwood, Welches, Zigzag and Rhododendron. Located near lakes, rivers, trails and a national forest, this is an outdoor enthusiast's playground with numerous vacation rentals, 27-hole golf course and culinary delights.
